The most important freedoms I have are the freedom of religion, speech, and assembly. These freedoms are listed in the 1st amendment. These are important to me because I am a Christian. I would not be able to assemble at church without the freedom of assembly, but 4 years ago that freedom was denied by the government because of Covid-19. The freedom of religion gives me the right to support any religion or no religion at all, I choose to support Christianity. The freedom of speech gives me the right to talk about my religion in public or anything else. These freedoms are the most important to me.

The 4th amendment protects me because police can't search me without a warrant or a probable cause. Back then a police officer could pat you down with no evidence. If the 4th amendment was not a thing I would be terrified of police, now not so much. This amendment protects the U.S and me because police can't search innocent people, but police can search guilty people with enough evidence. This amendment protects people like me from police patting me or anyone else down with no evidence.

When I am 18 I can vote. I Am excited to vote because we might get a good president who actually does his job. This is the 26th amendment. It used to be 21 years of age. This gives me the right to vote soon. I will be able to vote at 18.

These amendments I listed are the most important to me. They all protect me in some way. In the first amendment I listed the freedom of speech, the freedom of religion, and the freedom assembly. All these freedoms have to do with my religion. The second paragraph I listed the 4th amendment. Which prevents police searching me without a warrant or a probable cause. In the third paragraph it gives me the right to vote at age 18. These are the freedoms that are the most important to me.
