

Constitution Contest

The Constitution of the United States means to me that I can get the freedoms that I want. Including the right to keep and bear arms which means that I can keep and carry guns and also the right to be able to vote at the age of 18 years old. There are so many other freedoms including being able to have equal rights and being able to have rights that I can follow as a U.S citizen, also getting to vote without my race being discriminated, I get the right to vote because I am a woman, and I also get the right to vote because I will be 18 years old in 5 years. Some other rights are that I get the freedom of religion, assembly, petition, press and speech. The freedom of religion is that I can choose my own religion without telling them that I can't do that religion. The freedom of the assembly is that I can peacefully assemble without anything bad going on. I can petition to have new things get put on the ballot too maybe have them ratified, The U.S government can't abridge my freedom of press and the last thing is that I can say anything that I want and they can't say that I can't say that. Some other freedoms that I get are that I get a speedy trial which means that I get to go into trial and know if I am guilty in one year tops. The only thing that I don't agree with in the Constitution are income tax. Paying taxes each year is not fun when you are an adult. I agree with most of it but the thing that I agree with the most is abolition of poll taxes. All of the Constitution means a lot to the United States Of America.
